VERBAL DESCRIPTION:

Solid fragment of a multi-chambered ocarina with 2 conical supports under the front chamber (quadruped figures) and part of a turned-back mammalian ear above the front chamber. There are parts of 3 chambers: the front chamber with the legs, the chamber which would be forward the head (connected to the body, so it probably had a flat shaped mouthpiece from the mouth), and a chamber behind the front chamber which would have also had 2 conical supports (+ possibly a tail) - probably a dog figure. Heavily but thoroughly. One stop by the paper at Reg. No. part or dip.
